National ACI Convention Coming to San Antonio in March of 2009

San Antonio, Texas; January 14, 2009-The Alamo city will be hosting the National ACI (American Concrete Institute) Spring 2009 Convention March 15-19, 2009 at the Marriott San Antonio Rivercenter.

During this convention, you will find technical session topics on silica fume applications and steel reinforcement, "A Night in Old San Antonio" inspired Concrete Mixer, and a Contractor's Day you won't want to miss. We are a city rich in culture and history and have developed a series of tours that will explore just that!

The convention offers numerous forums to network and reconnect with some of the most well-informed individuals in the concrete industry. Expect to meet with engineers, architects, contractors, educators, manufactures, and material representatives from all over the world.

You will also have an opportunity to give input on concrete industry codes, specifications, and guides when you attend some of the 300+ committee meetings open to all convention attendees.

Additionally, there will be over 35 technical and educational sessions open for you to attend. Don't miss this opportunity to listen and learn from some of the concrete industry's most knowledgeable individuals.

The San Antonio convention also presents guest tours from Missions and Margaritas to a San Antonio River Safari and Walking Tour...come join the fun!
