The 2009 Structures Congress takes members of the structural engineering community deep into the heart of Texas to Austin. Whether you are a practicing engineer, researcher, or academician, you'll broaden your horizons not only by networking with industry leaders, but also learning strategies to meet the changes in today's global economy.

The Code of the West

Dr. John E. Breen will trace the history and underlying philosophy of contemporary consensus standards for buildings and bridges, and suggest strategies for more effective standards and codes.

Construction in the 21st Century

Santiago Calatrava, P.E., world renowned architect, artist, and engineer, will be discussing the art of construction in the 21st Century, sharing his concept of turning functional structures in works of art, when dealing with standards and regulations that limit creativity.

NIST Investigation of World Trade Center Building 7: Findings and Recommendations

Dr. S Shyam Sunder will report on the NIST Investigation of World Trade Center Building 7: Findings and Recommendations.
